When you first open your new flower arrangement, you might need to manipulate the flowers, leaves and foliage to have a more natural or pleasing appearance. You can do this by bending, twisting and pulling the stems into shape. Be sure not to pull any flowers off in the process.

If you begin to notice dust on the flowers and leaves, you can use a soft dust cloth or a tin of compressed air to remove it. Any stains or marks that may form over time can easily be removed with watered-down detergent, a soft cloth and gentle rubbing motion.
