Making the Right Choice for your Balustrade System

TYPES OF GLASS AVAILABLE

Toughened Glass
 Five Times Stronger than non-toughened, the increased strength makes this the ideal choice also allowing more natural light into your area

Toughened & Laminated Glass
 Constructed of two pieces of toughened glass with an interlayer sandwiched between, this ensures the panel remains in place eliminating the risk of harm from shards or large pieces should breakage occur. Architects regularly specify this option as it provides strength and stability and improving safety.

Stainless Steel Finish Options Satin and Mirror Polished
 Stainless steel can provide a long life, low maintenance and corrosion resistance, provided that the correct grade and surface finished are used. Routine washing is also recommended and upon order cleaning and maintenance detail will be provided. All Stainless-Steel products are high grade and suitable for external applications.

Brushed Satin Finish (Most Popular)
 An exceptional product for non-coastal environments hiding fingerprints and over time wear and tear is not as visible. The perfect choice for balustrades internally or externally. Less likely to show fingerprints and having a warmer tone with a less shiny look.

Mirror Polished (Suitable for Coastal Environments)
 Mirror Finished stainless steel is a highly polished, shiny, and reflective surface. Used primarily for balustrades that are installed externally within a 10-mile radius of the coast. A smooth surface, easy to keep clean but, is susceptible to fingerprints and smudges.
